Digitisation?! What does it mean?

Digitisation is crucial in today's European life. But, what does digitisation mean? Read the following definition carefully and try to get an idea of similarities and differences and deal with the tasks on the next page.

What does Digitization mean?

“Digitization is the process of converting analog signals or information of any form into a digital format that can be understood by computer systems or electronic devices. The term is used when converting information, like text, images or voices and sounds, into binary code. Digitized information is easier to store, access and transmit, and digitization is used by a number of consumer electronic devices.”

Difference between Digitization, Digitalization and Digital Transformation

“Digital transformation: Taking advantage of digitalization to create completely new business concepts

Digitalization: Making digitized information work for you

Digitization: Transitioning from analog to digital”

Digital Transformation

“There are two distinct aspects of digital transformation in the above outlined meaning: A digital transformation can either focus on technology, in which case we are talking about process & systems transformation.

Or it can focus on the people within an organization, in which case we are talking about a transformation of culture.”
